

Defect Report 1 - Planetarium

Related User Story: User Story 1: As a new user I want to open an account with the Planetarium so I can save my celestial findings

Scenario: Invalid credentials should not allow for Planetarium registration.

Step where defect was located: Then an alert should appear saying "<message>"

Defect description: When registering with the planetarium, the system will not alert the user that the username that they have entered is invalid in the event that they have entered a username that already exists within the database. This then leaves the user on the register page, with no clear answer as to why they are unable to open a new account.

Expected Result: When attempting to register with the planetarium, if the user enters a username that already exists and a valid password, they should be alerted with "Invalid username".

Actual Result: When using a duplicate username to register, the user is not alerted and instead is left on the register page with no clear explanation as to why.

Steps to Reproduce:

1. Access the register page of the planetarium
2. Enter "Batman" into the username field
3. Enter any valid password credentials
4. Click the "Create" button
5. Observe the result

Severity: Low

Priority: Medium
